'Path of Reflections' to honor loved ones

Plan would create a memorial path of engraved bricks to remember lost West Sac residents

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

An plan to create a memorial walkway to honor lost West Sacramento loved ones is now catching fire, thanks partly to a networks of friends and a Facebook page. The plan – still in its infancy – would allow people to purchase an inscribed brick to be placed along a walkway at the Sam Combs Park on Stone Boulevard.

West Sacramento native Christine (Kofoed) Drube said in explanatory email that the idea was launched at an Internet discussion site talking about the town.

"This idea came about when we were chatting in the group called 'You know you're from West Sac if. . .' on Facebook," wrote Drube. "A member in our group brought up the names of a few of our friends that had passed away. The next thing you know, there were 165 different comments connecting together discussion various people in our age group that had left us way too early."

She said she found the talk "disheartening," but she "had to do something to remember all of those who had passed away, and thought of this – I thought of the engraved brick memorial pathway."

The idea came from Drube's connection to the University of Arizona, which had a similar memorial. Her family bought a tile to honor their father at the university.

"The idea took off immediately," she said of its reception in West Sacramento.

She and some others, including local real estate agent Perry Palamidessi and volunteer Hollis Blevins, have been working with the local parks department and with some brick manufacturers to try to make the West Sac memorial happen. They plan to call it the "Path of Reflections."

Interested people will be able to purchase an engraved brick to be installed along the walkway. Additional rows of bricks could be added as the numbers get larger. Also planned are benches "so people may sit and reflect, laugh and talk."

Early estimates put the cost of an engraved brick at under $50.

The project has a new Facebook page ("Engraved Brick Garden for West Sacramento Residents") but it hasn't formed a formal organization. The group has talked to Ron Vrilakis, a 1980 graduate of River City High School who has an architecture firm in Sacramento and may help to plan the "Path of Reflections."

"Everybody knows somebody who passed on," commented Palamidessi. "After suggesting this, she just got flooded with people wanting to be a part of it."

Palamidessi said he has helped to create a local network to pursue the project, because Drube has been away from her native town for a number of years.

"I think this is going to evolve over time," he said. "We'd like to present the project to the parks and recreation department in November as a conceptual outline. They've done something similar in Clarksburg with a memorial tower."

Palamidessi said the best way for people to follow the project at this stage is to go online and visit the group's Facebook page.

Rail car tips over, backs up Jefferson Blvd.

■ No hazardous materials on car, says Fire Dept.

By St eve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A derailed train car caused a major traffic problem during the lunch hour on Oct. 21, blocking the Jefferson Boulevard/Stone Boulevard intersection and causing a detour and major back-ups.

"It wasn't a rail line issue, it was one particular car," said Gary Fredericksen, a division chief with the West Sacramento Fire Department. The car's chassis system failed and "the wheels turned sideways and it jumped off the track," he added.

"There was no damage to the hopper at all – it just kind of leaned sideways off the track, and it didn't spill any product."

The car was carrying urea, a granulated fertilizer product which is not considered hazardous.

Police, fire, and port officials responded. The rest of the train was quickly disconnected from the derailed car and its two adjacent cars just west of Jefferson Boulevard – but cars triggered the crossing guard arms and kept them stuck down, blocking busy Jefferson Boulevard traffic.

"Traffic backed up clear to West Capitol in one direction, and up onto the freeway. It went clear back to the (high) school in the other direction," said Fredericksen.

Officials created a detour using Park Boulevard and the Lake Washington Boulevard bridge crossing until they raised the crossing guard arms and later removed them. Train traffic was halted until the mess was cleared up. Eventually, the tilted car was righted.

The same rail line is also used to haul hazardous materials, including anhydrous ammonia for the Agrium fertilizer plant on Channel Drive.

Could an ammonia car have suffered a similar accident? Would it have been dangerous?

"Luckily, those cars are sealed," answered Fredericksen. "The speeds there are so slow you're not going to have a big explosion or fire. The anhydrous ammonia is all sealed inside there, pretty well roll-proof. If you had a big gash, you could have a big vapor cloud," he said.

A car versus ammonia car accident could create such a problem, he agreed.

The ammonia cars are regularly inspected and the Agrium plant is very safety-oriented, added Fredericksen.

Is West Sac sending a stink to Pocket area?

Last week, the News-Ledger reported a city official's explanation of what was causing that bad smell that seems to hover over some Southport neighborhoods every fall (and perhaps spring). The combination of warm days and cool nights caused "convection currents" in local waterways, bringing rotting material up to the surface, he said.

This creates an unpleasant odor for which city officials aren't aware of any easy solution. Cooler temperatures will stop the phenomenon.

The Pocket area of Sacramento has been experiencing similarly smelly symptoms.

"It smells like a sewer," one Pocket resident told KCRA television station. The station filmed a news report partly at the Pocket Canal Parkway.

In the same TV report, Sacramento City Councilman Darrell Fong said he thinks the culprit behind the Pocket's bad smell might be across the river in West Sac:

"There's also detention basins and canals over in the West Sacramento area of Southport," said Fong. "Something. . . could be coming from that area over there. It's drifting over because of the Delta Breeze."

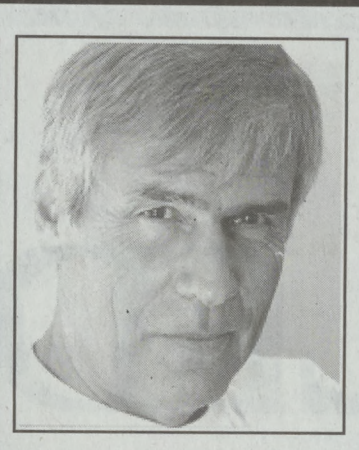
Men and women get sick differently

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

With the cold and flu season just around the corner, have you ever noticed how differently people go about handling the reality of getting/being sick? For instance, there is the relentless detective who above all else, wants to know just how he got sick. Who was the culprit who shared their unwanted germs and is there any way to punish him or her? Was it the thoughtless co-worker who never covers his mouth when he coughs, or the friend who always insists on shaking hands when he meets others, or maybe even a relative who visits even when they feel like they are "coming down with something"? Worst of all, could it have been one of the grandkids, who are always covered with germs from the schools they attend, and are too cute to get mad at (which is usually how I get sick by the way).

Once good and sick, people seem to deal with illness in very different ways. There are those who follow the example of a good dog, who, when sick, will just go outside and hide in a big bush until he is feeling better. These people want to be left alone in their room with maybe a computer or television set to connect them to the outside world, but they don't want visitors or anyone feeling sorry for them. They seem to understand that "this, too, shall pass", and they just want to get on with it and suffer in silence.

But there are also those who are anything but silent when they get sick, and want the whole world to know exactly what is wrong with them. They want all the gory details of their illness known to anyone and everyone willing to listen, and they don't seem to care how disgusting those details may be. If they have been endlessly barfing into bedside buckets or racing back and forth to the bathroom with gut-wrenching diarrhea, they want that known to one and all. And they also seem to lose any sense of decorum, not caring if they give off sonic booms when they cut the cheese, or blow their nose so loudly that it sounds like a male elephant sending out a mating call.

There are also those (mostly women for some reason) who seem to decide that since they are sick, they no longer have to bother with such things as combing their hair or putting on makeup or taking showers or wearing the clothes they normally do. Instead, they somehow come up with worn and tattered outfits that would make even a bag lady look desirable by comparison. In fact, their logic seems to be that the more disgusting-looking they can make themselves, the faster the germs which have invaded their bodies will want to leave. They also seem to like to wrap themselves up like mummies and turn the heat up so high that everyone else in the house is dripping with sweat.

Anyway, when I was mentioning to a friend the other day that I was thinking about trying to make a column out of the above observations, she quickly noted that I had left out the one ingredient which might actually make it funny.

"And what might that be?" I asked with interest.

"The man – which is all of you by the way – who is absolutely sure he's going to die every time he gets a sniffle! And this is how it usually goes down. As soon as a man starts to feel a little achy or feverish, he becomes the grouch from hell. He can't go to work or be bothered with the household chores or helping out with the kids. And if he actually is sick, and you happen to be his wife or girlfriend, then he quickly becomes the demanding grouch from hell. `Honey, get me this, get me that, I need lots of juices, go to the store and get me gallons of orange juice, bring me some aspirin, go back to the store and get me some cough syrup, are there any pills, potions or patches in the house that will save me, I don't care if you're sick, too, I'm much sicker than you, in fact I'm the sickest person on the planet, no kidding, this is getting serious, you better call the doctor, how fast can the doctor see me, do you think I need to see a specialist, maybe it's time to go to the emergency room, hey, doesn't anyone care, I'm dying in here!'.

'As soon as a man starts to feel a little achy or feverish, he becomes the grouch from hell. He can't go to work or be bothered with the household chores or helping out with the kids.'

"Are we men really that bad when we get sick?" I asked, returning her smile.

"Well, my husband sure is! But do you really want to know what the worst part of him getting sick is?"

"Sure."

"He always somehow manages to produce gallons of this incredible yucky green stuff from his nose. You would think science would find some way to make something useful from it. Maybe a super-glue, or an additive to keep household appliances running smoothly, or possibly even a new bio-fuel that could save the world from global warming."

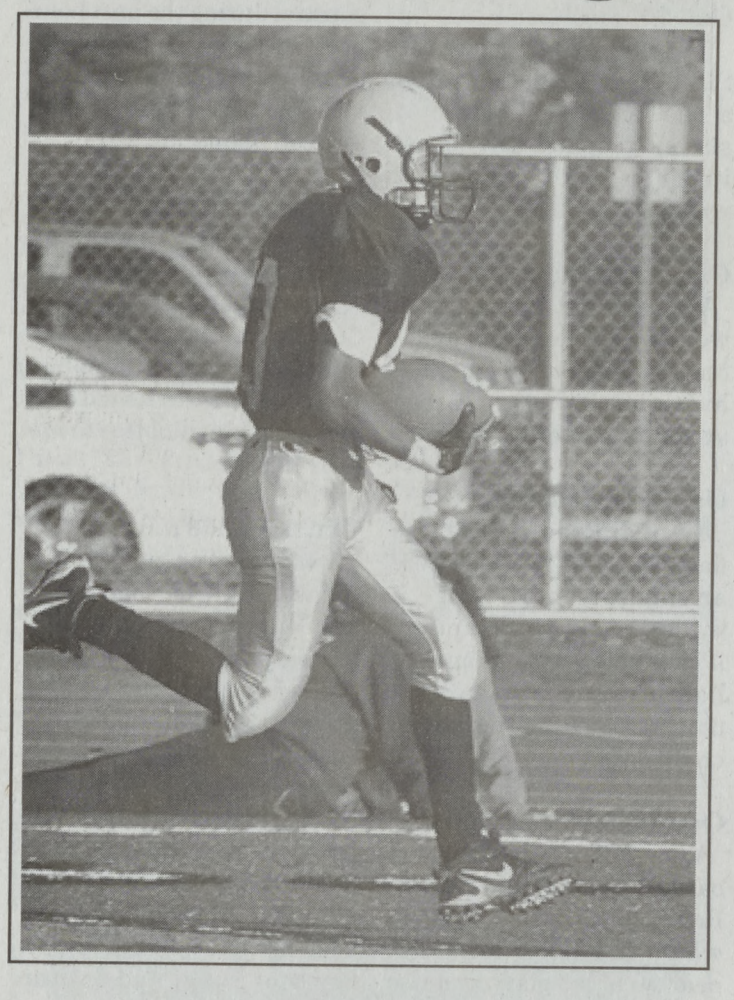
Wolfpack gets the better of the Raiders



River City High School's football team played host to the visiting Cosumnes Oaks Wolfpack on Friday.

The Cosumnes Oaks JV team outscored River City, holding them to just 12 points.

Scoring for River City were #13, Jamal Williams with a 55-yard TD run and #56, Robert Aiello with a two-yard TD. Final score 39-12.

The Cosumnes Oaks Wolfpack varsity team broke open a close game with three second-half touchdowns, for a 25-7 win over the River City Raiders.

River City took a brief 7-6 lead in the third quarter on an eight-yard touchdown pass from Joey Beall to Mark Dutra.

However, the Wolfpack responded with a TD on their next possession and never looked back. Turnovers and penalties consistently slowed the Raider offense and provided Cosumnes Oaks with good field position.

The Raiders will conclude their season with a home game this Friday, against Union Mine and the state's leading rusher, Sean Tow. -- from DE'ONNA JACK

Pumpkin Run: 5 & 10k of fun

Several dozen people took part in the second annual Pumpkin Run on Saturday. The event raised hundreds of dollars for local aquatics programs, said race director Ross Yancher of the Aquatics Foundation of West Sacramento.

The money will go to the Recreation Center's fee assistance programs and to the high school swimming and water polo teams swim suit assistance programs, he said.

The racing (which included a short kids' race as well as 5K and 10K adult courses) was scenic.

"(It was on) a great new course through Dave's Pumpkin Patch and along the Sacramento River," said Yancher. "Members of the RCHS cross country team participated and won the 5K race divisions. Each finisher went home with a large pumpkin (with) the largest pumpkins going to the overall race winners."

The race will return in 2012, he promised.

Men's and Women's Overall 10K winners...Ryan Smith (39:21) and Catherine DeMotte (52:18)

5 K Mens' & Woman's Overall Winners Michael Moore (19:47.8) and Savannah Love (23:41.8)

Kids' Fun Run Winners Andre Salazar (4:38.5) and Sebastian Salazar (4:42.1) with race mascot Gumby

One Jr. Raider squad makes the playoffs

The Jr Pee Wee Raiders traveled to Pleasant Grove on Saturday to face the Rio Linda Jr Knights in the Sacramento Youth Football League's 2011 Playoffs.

The last time these two teams met in the regular season, Rio Linda outscored River City by a score of 20-6, but in the playoffs, the game was a little different. River City held Rio Linda to just 6 points in the first half, with the score at half being 6-0, Rio Linda; however, in the 3 rd quarter Amari Duncan scored on a long touchdown run for River City and tied the game up.

The game remained tied 6-6 going into the 4th quarter and with just about 4 ½ minutes left to play, Rio Linda scored to go up 13-6. River City got the ball back and was able to get in the red zone with under a minute left; however, with no time outs left, they simply ran out of time. Final score 13-6.

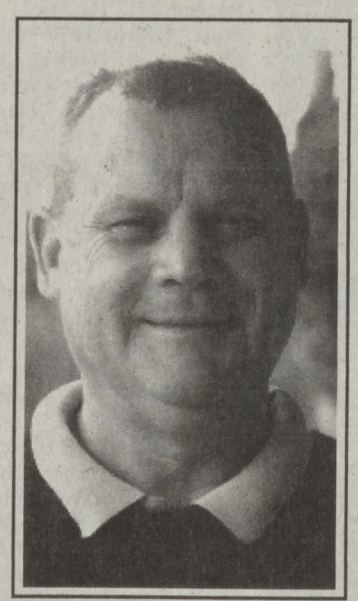
YOUTH & SPORTS COLUMN:

'Heart of the City'



BY DON SCHATZEL

The pieces seem to be coming together at River City High School!

I don't often comment on sports at River City because they are covered so well by the News-Ledger but I had an opportunity to attend football homecoming event this year and I was very impressed. Athletic Director Char Ghio needs to be recognized for her great work, and she seems to be everywhere at River City Sports!

The home stands were full – so full that some River City fans had to sit on the visitors' side. We actually had a marching band with uniforms and they really marched and played music you could understand. The River City choir proudly sang the national anthem. The P.A. announcer could be heard and understood! The homecoming floats and honor court were terrific in their classic cars and trucks, plus there seemed to be as many people walking around from the community, catching up on the past weeks activities, as there were sitting in the stands! The booster club is doing a great job on the snack bar.

I have attended RCHS soccer and volleyball games, and there is Char again.

Friday night River City football games are the social place to be in West Sac and a great place for the whole family to have some fun.

It is easy to see the impact of the Jr. Raiders youth football program on the River City High team, and as of this writing, the Raiders have concluded their great season for 2011.

Hey, sponsors!

If your business is in a position to sponsor a youth league in town – football, swimming, soccer, baseball, softball – they sure need the help. Again, there are a lot of people attending River City football games, West Sac girls softball and youth soccer games each and every weekend. Sponsorships help keep the registration fees down and reduce the need for families to do fundraisers.

I have never been supportive of having kids walk door to door selling candy, popcorn, etc. to pay for their program. Everyone I know involved with a sport league goes out of their way to shop at a sponsor's place of business just because of the sponsorship. I would guess each sponsor gets a double or triple return of their sponsor investment each season.

Each league has a website for you to contact it through, and they need the help!

It is already time to be thinking about the Dolphins swim program and Little League softball and baseball leagues. Volunteer board members are planning registration dates, and now would be a good time to look up their info and be ready to register.

Soccer and fall Ball baseball and softball continue as long as the California weather we enjoy doesn't change.

Have you had a chance to go by Bryte Park on a Saturday? The day-glo (often called "highlighter yellow" by our opponents) uniforms you see are on the West Sac soccer players! Hundreds of them, all day at Bryte! If we ever have a game in the fog, we will always be able to spot our own players. That sounds odd, but having had the experience of playing soccer in Stockton in the fog, by sound instead of sight because the fog was so thick we could not see the other end of the field the day-glo uniforms would have been helpful.

However, our opponents can say what they want about our uniforms as long as we beat them.

Congratulations to the under 12 girls team coached by Mike Lara, Adam Medina and Troy Hensley for winning their recent Land Park Tournament.

Vanessa Hensley and Macie McCann: future River City stars? Maybe in a few years — and we will be watching!

Fall Ball Little League Softball is wrapping up another successful season in District 6. Katie Saleeba, Charlotte Moore, and Alicia Lopez have had great season for the juniors and Mikala and Sydney Gonzales, Shelby Haith, and Candace O'Neal for the Majors.

Also, another shout-out to Washington Unified after-school volleyball program. A couple of years ago, it was a struggle for the girls to get the ball over the net now it is not unusual to see 7-8 returns per rally and a real attempt – often successful – at the classic bump, set, spike approach!

On a personal note, I always enjoy watching the games and seeing all the great athletes that are playing volleyball for their school and then seeing the same athletes on the soccer and softball field.

Alicia Lopez, Jazlyn Hendrickson Unique Martinez, Ashlyn Dodd, Hannah Mccann, Gabrielle Mistler, Carlie Blevins, Jesse Olsen, Jasmine Anderson, Jordan Criswell, Kylee Hall: great athletes that represent their school and the community all year long in the many sports in West Sacramento!

The "Heart of the City" goes on beating all year long.

The idea of Go Figure is to arrive at the figures given at the bottom and right-hand columns of the diagram by following the arithmetic signs in the order they are given (that is, from left to right and top to bottom). Use only the numbers below the diagram to complete its blank squares and use each of the nine numbers only once.

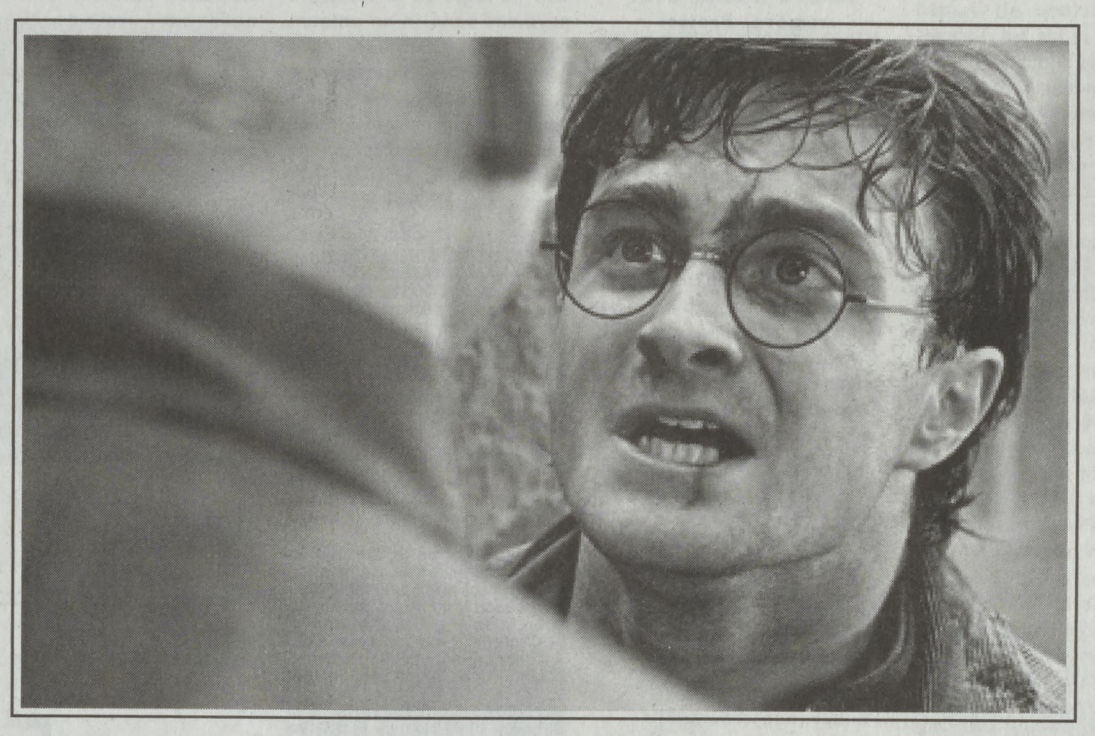
COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEWS

BY SAM STRUCKHOFF



DANIEL RADCLIFFE

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Harry Potter and the Deathly Hollows: Part 2" (PG-13) -- The forces of evil are in full swing, and it's up to Harry (Daniel Radcliffe) and his wizard friends to bring the final confrontation to Voldemort and save the world. Seeds planted long ago come to full fruition, as the children cast in the original films have all grown into talented performers, capable of handling the more intense drama of the final films.

What you probably saw in the previews was a lot of dirt-stained youths looking serious spliced with darkened images of computer-generated destruction. While this is indicative of the cataclysmic action in the movie, it leaves out the emotional climaxes in the story -- it's not all gloom and lightning bolts.

"Life in a Day" (PG-13) -- If YouTube and the "It's a Small World After All" ride could be combined into a motion picture, it would this jumbled, yet touching collective documentary. Produced by Ridley Scott and directed by Kevin Macdonald, more than 4,500 hours of footage from people around the world all going about their lives on the same day is assembled into a single movie about living on Earth.

It's grand in scope and perhaps a little gimmicky, but there is something -- however shallow or profound -- to see here. Specific segments will strike a chord while others will simply bore. However, it's the contrast between segments and the heartwarming similarities between different lives that gives the documentary its true energy.

DOGS OF THE WEEK

"The Change-Up" (R) -- This here is a body-swap comedy that will certainly go down as one of the many unpleasant and forgettable body-swap comedies. Jason Bateman plays a guy with a family and responsibilities; Ryan Reynolds is a swinging bachelor who still feels unfulfilled. The two slightly different pals swap lives through the supernatural forces of dull cinematic cliches.

The novelty of this movie is that it has a perfect display of Hollywood's new favorite failure -- the no-laugh gross-out gag. It's been an escalating trend that gross humor has a place in all adult comedies. This means that the audience can see a baby spray fecal matter all over a protagonist before the opening credits, and thus have low expectations secured throughout the remainder of the experience.

"Atlas Shrugged: Part 1" (PG-13) -- Author Ayn Rand's novel about powerful thinkers going against the grain makes it to the big-screen. Too bad it has the looks of a made-for-TV affair. With a "no talent, no problem" cast and amateurish direction, any philosophical content could be missed between eye-rolls. The film portends to be the first in a trilogy, but it could be getting ahead of itself in that regard.

"Death in the City of Light: The Serial Killer of Nazi-Occupied Paris" by David King
(Crown, $26)
Reviewed by Larry Cox

If you like true crime, put this book at the top of your reading list. "Death in the City of Light" is the gripping, rapid-fire suspense story of one of the most terrifying serial killers ever, a man who few of us have ever heard of.

Author David King was browsing through old books in an antiquarian bookshop in Paris when he stumbled upon a wartime memoir that documented the serial killings of Marcel Petiot, a ruthless murderer who was eventually charged with 27 grisly deaths. Intrigued, he dug deeper. Using sources that include never-before-released police files, King draws readers into the shadowy world of Paris during the waning years of World War II.

The crimes began to unravel on a March evening in 1944 when police respond to complaints from neighbors about toxic odors spilling from the chimney of a townhouse at 21 rue La Sueur. Upon entering, the two police officers are horrified to discover two coal stoves with charred human remains. A closer look revealed a pit that contained hands, feet, skulls and other body parts in various states of decomposition.

Marcel Petiot, the home's owner and a respected physician, was arrested, and pieces of the story began falling into place. The doctor had posed as a member of the French Resistance so that he could lure his victims --- many of them Jews seeking to escape the Nazis --- into his house. He promised them safe passage out of Nazi-occupied France and then killed them.

It is King's meticulous research that takes readers to the very heart of the case. He examined cartons of police reports, read the interrogations of witnesses, pored over crime-scene photographs and even the detailed dossier from Petiot's stays at mental asylums. The result is one of the most exciting true crime books of the year.

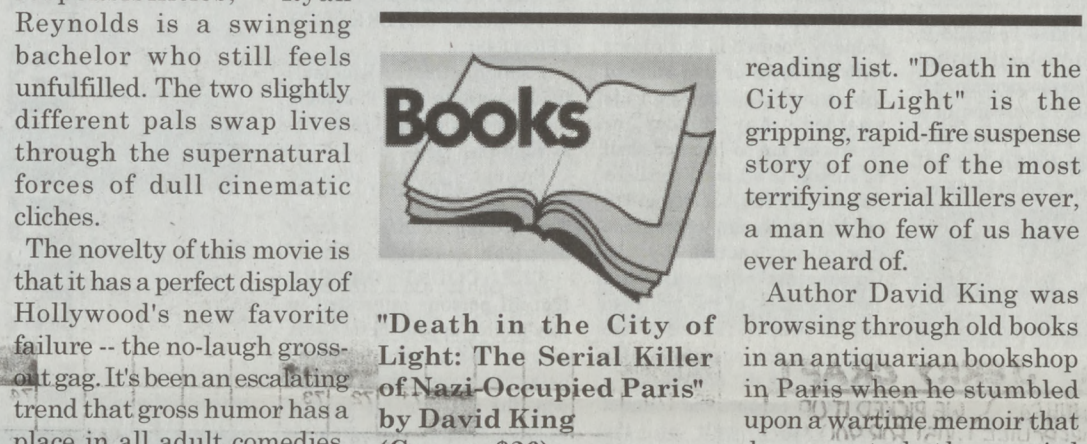
The Kitchen Diva BY Angela Shelf Medearis



Lighten Up the Holidays!

If you haven't already, you will soon be pulling out your favorite holiday dessert recipes. And if you're like most of us, some of these favorites will be heavy in fat, sugar and calories. Family favorites such as pies, cookies, quick breads and cakes can be improved and made more healthful -- with just a few minor changes.

In baked products, you usually can decrease the amount of shortening, butter or cooking oil by one-third and still have a good result. If the recipe calls for 1 cup of butter, you would use 2/3 cup. In cakes and quick breads, make sure you have 2 tablespoons of fat in the recipe for every cup of flour. Another option for cakes and quick breads is to substitute unsweetened applesauce for half of the fat. Just remember that every time you add one less tablespoon of fat, you save 100 calories in your recipe.

You also can decrease sugar by one-third in most recipes, or use a sugar substitute, and still have a good-tasting product. Keep in mind that for cakes and cookies, you need to have 1/2 cup of sugar for every cup of flour. For quick breads and muffins, you need to have at least 1 tablespoon of sugar for every cup of flour. Keep in mind that while 1 tablespoon of sugar per cup of flour will help the muffins brown nicely, they will not be sweet. They will not be as moist either. Sugar actually holds moisture, so less sugar can make for a drier product.

To add nutrients and fiber, substitute whole-grain flour for all-purpose flour in recipes. You usually can replace one-fourth to one-half of the all-purpose flour with whole grain. Be creative with your whole grains. Make you own oat flour by putting oats in the blender to grind to flour. You also can blend bran cereal to make flour. Both oat and bran flour can replace one-quarter of the all-purpose flour in a recipe.

This Streusel-Topped Pumpkin Pie is a lighter version of traditional holiday pumpkin pie.

STRUSEL-TOPPED PUMPKIN PIE

Filling:
2 large eggs
1 (15-ounce) can unsweetened pumpkin
1 (14-ounce) can fat-free sweetened condensed milk
1 1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/8 teaspoon ground cloves

Crust:
1/2 (15-ounce) package refrigerated pie dough (such as Pillsbury)
Cooking spray

Streusel:
1/3 cup whole-wheat pastry flour (about 1 1/2 ounces)
1/3 cup packed Splenda brown sugar for baking
1/4 cup regular oats
1/4 cup chopped walnuts or pecans
3/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon ground ginger
2 tablespoons chilled butter, cut into small pieces
2 to 3 teaspoons cold water

1. Preheat oven to 375 F.
2. To prepare crust: Coat a 9-inch pie plate with cooking spray. Roll dough to an 11-inch circle. Fit the dough into the prepared pie plan. Fold edges under and press with a fork around the edge.
3. To prepare filling, whisk the eggs lightly for 1 minute. Add in pumpkin and condensed milk and stir to combine. Add the cinnamon, allspice, salt, nutmeg, ginger and cloves. Pour the filling into the prepared crust.
4. To prepare streusel, lightly spoon flour into a dry measuring cup; level with a knife. Combine flour, brown sugar, oats, walnuts or pecans, cinnamon, salt and ginger in a bowl. Cut in butter with a fork or fingertips until crumbly. Sprinkle with water, tossing with a fork just until lightly moistened.
5. Sprinkle the streusel on the pumpkin filling. Place the pie on a baking sheet.
6. Bake at 375 F for 25 minutes and then rotate the pie so that it bakes evenly. Continue baking for another 25 minutes or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Remove from baking sheet; cool completely on a wire rack. Serve with light whipped topping, if desired.
